A long-standing company in chocolate production, it specialises in the production of products for the confectionery and pastry industry. Tempco has over time provided a range of solutions for a variety of product lines, including:

- chocolate conching
- chocolate refining
- refrigeration and pneumatic transport of powders
- heating chocolate conveyor lines

just to name a few of the most significant ones, often designed and built according to the specifications of the customer, always very demanding and attentive to reliability, with a focus on energy saving and water consumption. Definitely a design gymnasium of which we are proud.
